Through my content writing skills, I helped small businesses leverage by providing high-quality content for their audiences. One of them is a Finland-based company whom I worked for a few years ago. I had written more than 200 long-form content with at least 2,500 words each.

Consequently, it brought him an increase of 10,000 page views for one particular blog post. Can you imagine the total website traffic from 200+ more blog posts?
